Needs of Seeds

Seeds sprout and eventually grow into young plants called seedlings. Put an X next to the things you think a seed needs in order for it to sprout.

___ water ___ soil
___ air
___ food
___ sunlight
___ darkness
___ warmth
___ Earth’s gravity ___ fertilizer

Explain your thinking. Describe the “rule” or reasoning you used to decide what a seed needs in order to sprout.

________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________