

Making of Mountains

Draw and label a diagram showing what happens when two plates push against each other at first.

Draw and label a diagram showing what happens when two plates push against each other and one begins to move under the other one causing the movement of land.

Draw and label a diagram showing what happens when two plates push against each other and one begins to move under the other one causing the movement of land.

Draw and label a diagram showing what happens when two plates pull apart and magma starts to seep up between the two plates.

