

STEM-In-Action Grant Blog Post 01

For your first blog post we'd like you to tell our readers a little bit about your project. Below you will find some questions you can answer to help you write your blog post. You can also access the eCYBERMISSION blog to see what blog posts generally look like (<http://ecybermission.blogspot.com/>). You will notice that they are not much longer than a few paragraphs. You might also notice that blog posts are somewhat casual, and they can be read by ANYONE so try to make your project as easy to understand as possible.

Also, we'd like you to include some picture of your team working on your project, so send us a few of those (no more than 5).

For this first post, stick with the basics:

- Who are you?
- Where are you from?
- How did you get involved in eCYBERMISSION?
- What problem in your community is team addressing?
- What is your proposed solution to, or discovery about, the problem?
- What do you plan to do with your STEM-In-Action Grant prize?

In your second post we will have you talk about your progress and any publicity you have received regarding your project.

This is due the first week of October, 2016.
