NSTA Student Chapter Program

The National Science Teachers Association (NSTA) initiated the NSTA student chapter program in an effort to maintain a connection to future teachers as they enter the profession and create a conduit as the “new” teacher workforce enters the classroom. The student chapters have elected to ally themselves to encourage the professional development of preservice teachers of science.

An NSTA student chapter is a separate, but interdependent organization housed at any 2-year or 4-year college or university (including community colleges). There are no domestic boundaries. Applications are accepted from any college or university throughout the world. NSTA and NSTA student chapters are distinct organizational entities. Dual membership is not required of any individual.

NSTA has over 125 student chapters. This active group of young professionals meet virtually and face-to-face, conduct sessions at NSTA’s national and area conventions, and network online via the student and student chapter listserves. For a complete list of student chapters and activities, visit www.nsta.org/studentchapters or follow the Twitter hashtag #NSTASTUDENTCHAPTER.

The purpose of this program is to

- promote the mission of NSTA
- acquaint preservice teachers of science with the support resources available from NSTA
- provide additional professional development in science education to preservice teachers
- create a network of preservice teachers of science at universities or colleges across the world

For a student group to form a student chapter, the group submits a completed application which is reviewed by NSTA. Applicants are notified in writing of the decision regarding the application. Applicants may be given the opportunity to resubmit if the initial application does not meet student chapter program requirements.

To form a student chapter, a group must provide evidence that the following conditions have been met:

- The chapter uses “[Its School’s Name] National Science Teachers Association Student Chapter” as its official chapter name and clearly identifies student chapter status with NSTA in its printed material. For example: “Murray State University National Science Teacher Association Student Chapter” or “Murray State University NSTA Student Chapter.”
- Students organize the chapter for their professional development. A student is defined as an individual in good standing enrolled in course work leading to an appropriate degree.

Purpose

Application for Student Chapter Affiliation

- The chapter forms on the campus of an accredited institution that offers programs in science education. The institution formally recognizes the chapter as a student chapter organization.
- The chapter has a faculty advisor who is the recognized liaison between NSTA and the chapter. The faculty advisor is an NSTA member. As part of the application process, the student group must provide a letter from the faculty member consenting to serve as an advisor.

A successful student chapter begins with good organization, structure, and student and faculty advisor involvement. The following is a sample timeline.

Timeline

Step 1. Decide to form a student chapter at your school.

Contact NSTA for information on how to start a student chapter. Secure information regarding your school's policies and procedures for sponsored student groups. Inform department chair or dean of your plans to start the chapter.

Step 2. Identify a faculty advisor and interested student leaders.

Recruit a core student group for planning. Conduct informational meetings. Obtain names, addresses, and phone numbers of interested students. Research student organizations currently existing on campus.

Step 3. Promote the idea of a student chapter among faculty and students by talking to them and distributing informational flyers.

Step 4. Create policies and procedures for your student chapter.

Draft a chapter constitution and operational procedures.

Step 5. Submit materials to your school's student activities office, and obtain approval to form the student chapter.

Step 6. Elect a leadership team or officers.

Step 7. Submit a completed NSTA student chapter application and a copy of your chapter's constitution or bylaws—compatible and consistent with NSTA's mission and bylaws—to obtain approval to become an official NSTA student chapter.

Step 8. Develop recruitment activities.

Establish a student chapter program and a budget. Keep records of your activities for reference when you prepare your annual report in the spring.

Step 9. Submit an annual report to NSTA each spring.

The report lists the officers of the chapter for the next school year and contains a current membership roster, and it describes the chapter's activities during the past year.

Student chapter publications are not official publications of NSTA, but they are expected to operate in accordance with the mission of NSTA. All publications must state that they are publications of NSTA student chapters.

Requests for rosters of NSTA student chapter members and faculty advisors, along with other holding appointment or elected positions in the Association, shall be referred to the appropriate staff liaison for approval and distributed only to noncommercial individuals/groups for educational purposes.

Free NSTA E-Student Membership

Upon approval of the chapter by NSTA, NSTA will provide a one-year free NSTA electronic student membership to each new student chapter member. This offer is for new student chapter members only, does not include a paper journal, and cannot be used to renew an existing or former NSTA membership. All student membership applications must be completed by the faculty advisor online. At the time the chapter is notified that its application has been accepted, the faculty advisor will be given a website address, a unique login, and a password to enter the student membership information.

The e-Student Membership is valid for 12 months beginning the date in which the information is entered into the NSTA system. At the end of the membership term, the student will receive an NSTA notice to renew their membership at the student membership rate of $34.

Once the information is entered, an e-mail notification will be sent to the student confirming their membership and providing their NSTA membership ID. They can access the member-only section of the NSTA website right away, which includes the journal archives for ALL four NSTA grade-specific journals.

This membership is electronic only. No journals will be mailed. If the student wishes to receive printed journals, they must purchase a regular student membership for $34 per year for a one journal subscription. Visit <http://www.nsta.org/memstudent> for complete details.

The entire process can take up to four weeks, so please allow plenty of time before students need to access members-only NSTA resources.

Dear NSTA Student Chapters:

Please consider this letter as official notice that Emporia State University enthusiastically supports the formation and existence of the Emporia State University National Science Teachers Association Student Chapter. ESU has a long tradition of preparing teachers and teacher preparation continues to be one focus of the university's mission. Tangible support by ESU for this student group is already in evidence as six students are being supported financially to attend the national NSTA meeting in Dallas during the spring semester through an academic enrichment grant.

Ken Thompson is an appropriate faculty sponsor for the ESU NSTA Student Chapter. He first joined NSTA as a student in 1973, continues to be an active member of NSTA, and holds office in a NSTA state-affiliated group, the Kansas Association of Teachers of Science. He has had a long and positive impact in the area of teacher education in the Physical Sciences.

ESU NSTA student chapter members will benefit from the professional development opportunities and resources provided by NSTA. Again, ESU supports the formation and existence of an on-campus NSTA student chapter and wants to complete the process for national affiliation.

Sincerely,

Rodney J. Sobieski, Ph.D
