Dedication

To my parents, Vonda and Jim Stevens, who approach the world with open minds and open hearts.

—Emily Morgan

For my mother, Nancy Crocetta, who taught me to be curious.

—Jacqui Crocetta

I would rather have questions that can't be answered than answers that can't be questioned.

—Richard Feynman

Never stop wondering, never stop questioning.
Never stop trying to figure things out.

Always keep searching, always keep asking.
That's what science is all about.

So study the world, look for changes and patterns, and try to predict what comes next.

Ask why things happen, then test your ideas, and persist with the ones that perplex.

Notice the structure and function of objects in nature and human design.

Calculate scale, proportion, and quantity, like length, size, distance, and time.

Never Stop Wondering

*Never stop wondering,
never stop questioning.
Never stop trying to figure things out.*

*Always keep searching,
always keep asking.
That's what science
is all about.*

This colorful book celebrates our sense of wonder and shows how curiosity is key to cracking the mysteries of the universe. Packed with lively rhymes and fun illustrations, Never Stop Wondering demonstrates how the need to know can lead to great scientific discoveries. And the activities at the end of the book will prompt readers to do exactly what scientists do: study their surroundings, come up with questions, test ideas, and then question some more. Ready, set, wonder!

Author Emily Morgan is a former teacher who is also the author of the bestselling Next Time You See NSTA Kids series. She believes that both children and adults should never stop trying to explore the “whys” of the world!
