

Particle Movement

Read each scenario. Discuss with your partner if you should represent a solid, liquid, or gas and why. Then create a drawing that shows what is happening to the particles in the situation. Use arrows to show movement.

Blowing up a soccer ball with a pump.

Spraying air freshener in a room.

Ice melting on a table. Draw before and after it melts.

Pouring milk into a glass from a square container.

