

Box Fish

BY LAUREL MYRE
AND EVELYN WESTBY

18 vertebrae

Minimum tank
size 70 gallons

5-100 MG OF
TOXIN Price: $26-$697

live wild in the Pacific Ocean

Water Temperature 72-

78 degrees
Can kill

everything in a tank in 10 min.

Average length: 4-5 in.

Max Size: 10 inches

Crustaceans are their main food
source

25 SPECIES

Box Fish evolved by changing their body shape to become more aerodynamic

Adaptations

RELEASING TOXIC
POISON HELPS THEM
PROTECT THEMSELVES
AGAINST PREDATORS

POLKA-DOTTED HELPS THEIR EYES BLEND INTO THEIR BODY TO PROTECT

5 FINS TO HELP THEM SWIM AWAY FROM PREDATORS

BODY ENCLOSED BY BONES TO PROTECT THEIR INSIDES

BRIGHT COLORS HELP THEM BLEND INTO CORAL

Adaptions help because in their environment ... at the bottom middle of the food chain

Box Fish live near the bottom of the tank, near coral and rocks

Indian ring necked Parrot

AMAZING ADAPTATIONS

Female

Male

This is a rough amount of how many parrots live in these states

ADAPTATIONS FOR BOTH GENDERS

- The color green or other colors helped them camouflage in rainforests or wooded areas
- Due to their traveling they adapted extreme adaptation to temperatures
- The parrots react quickly if danger is near
- The ring necks have two large blue tail feathers

Like all birds it evolved from a pterodactyl!

FUN FACTS

When they are ruffled that means that they are comfy

Also curved beaks for are good for biting pesky hands

WHAT YA LOOKING AT?

Indian ring necks adapted to their predators by warning others by screeching a warning call to their friends when a predator was spotted

See the curve in his beak?

snacks ringnecks prefer the most

No ring means it's not a male

The curved beak helps in cracking open nuts making tree cavities (holes in which they live in)

The Female Adaptions

- The females are usually more stockier than the male in other words chubby or fatter
- They don't have the ring
- They are less impressive than the males

The ring signifies the difference between male and

The Male Adaptions

- Males are usually more taller and bigger than females
- Males also have brighter or a more impressive appearances to attract females
- Have rings to add on to notify the females that they are males